
Table of Contents

Author's Preface	v
Preparing for 21 st Century Home Telenursing
Introduction by Gary L. Glissman, RN, CCM Telehealth in Home Health Nursing	xiii
List of Tables and Figures	xix
<hr/>
❶ HOME TELEHEALTHCARE PRACTICE: ARE YOU READY?	1
• introduction to home telehealthcare • training issues • patient acceptance • opportunities for today's home care nurse
<hr/>
❷ KEY ISSUES IN HOME TELEHEALTHCARE DELIVERY	21
• quality of care • safety • legal concerns... presented as a Special Appendix: Legal Issues in Telemedicine, by Barry B. Cepelewicz, M.D., J.D.
<hr/>
❸ HOME TELEHEALTHCARE TOOLS AND USE BY TELENURSES	37
• design issues • telenurse training and acceptance • selected tools: point-of-care telehealthcare systems and peripheral devices
<hr/>
❹ BEST APPLICATIONS OF HOME TELEHEALTHCARE TECHNOLOGIES: TARGETED CARE OF TODAY'S CHRONIC NEEDS PATIENTS	57
patients with: • congestive heart failure; & patients with: • diabetes
<hr/>
❺ THE HOME TELENURSE: TODAY AND TOMORROW	81
• telenursing: becoming critical players • patients' aging in place: getting the "place" right • patient self-care: continuing challenges
Selected Bibliography	103
Index	107

Home Healthcare: Wired and Ready for Telehealthcare
The Nurses' and Nursing Students' Edition
New and Revised 2003

ISBN: 0-9657674-3-4

$95.00, order online at: www.InformationForTomorrow or call: 828-252-8571